Before you travel

Start/end: your agreed Skardu pickup location. Leave a full day available; this is unsuitable as a tight connection before a flight.
 Total outing is approximately 9–12 hours, including about 6–8 hours of rough-road driving; timings depend on the route and stops.
 No camping or overnight park stay is included. Short walking sections remain at high altitude.
 Tell the team about dietary requirements, vehicle needs and recent altitude exposure before confirming.

Season & preparation

Suggested season: June–September, only when park access and roads are open

Difficulty: Easy walking; high-altitude 4x4 travel

Guide & safety arrangements

The plateau is around 4,000 m even though the walks are short. Discuss recent altitude exposure and suitability with the team before booking. The guide may turn back if a traveller feels unwell or conditions deteriorate. Observe wildlife from a distance, never feed animals and follow park staff instructions.

Weather & travel changes

The safari runs only with current road and park access confirmation. Snow, flooding or a closure may prevent Sheosar access or the entire outing. Agree postponement, alternatives and any costs in your proposal.

- Comfortable shoes for uneven ground
- Sun hat, sunglasses and sun protection
